

Free Third Saturday Event NASA Glenn Visitor Center Touchdown on Mars

Saturday, June 21, 2008
10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The Phoenix Mars Lander is on a mission to the surface of Mars to investigate the red planet's ability to support life. Join us on June 21 as we discuss the Phoenix mission to the northern polar region of Mars and NASA's plans for further exploration of this fascinating planet.

11 a.m. and 1 p.m. – "Phoenix Mission – Exploration of the Polar Region of Mars"
Melissa Lamberton, University of Arizona's Phoenix Mission Outreach Office

See Web site for details.

Free kids' craft activities, photos and plenty of handouts!

- Advanced registration guarantees admission to presentations. Call (216) 433-9653 to register.
- Access to the NASA Glenn Visitor Center is limited to U.S. citizens.
- All adult visitors are required to present government-issued photo identification.

Free admission always!

For more information on NASA Glenn events, go to glennevents.grc.nasa.gov